Scott Spiro, MD, FACS

Dr. Scott A. Spiro's ability to customize surgery for each individual has led patients from 17 countries and more than 24 states to seek his expertise. "I am most proud of the thousands of positive patient experiences left in online reviews," he says.

Popular procedures he offers include revision/corrective cosmetic and reconstructive breast surgery using tissue grafts, mesh, and scaffolds as internal bra slings to create customized breast outcomes. He also offers "mommy makeovers," which combine breast surgery with tummy tucks and contour liposuction with fat grafting to maximize outcomes. His customized facial rejuvenation approach, which combines dual-plane/deep-plane SMAS face and neck lifting with multi-site facial fat grafting, yields more natural results. In addition, he performs auto-augmentation (non-implant) mastopexy (breast lift) with internal breast flaps (dermo-glandular), which continue to gain popularity as alternatives to implants. His advanced surgical techniques and care for breast-implant-illness patients have gained national recognition. Spiro Plastic Surgery's award-winning medical spa provides Botox®, Xeomin®, fillers, CoolSculpting®, and skin-care services including peels, DiamondGlow® facials, and microneedling with platelet-rich plasma (PRP).

Dr. Spiro has been featured on network television as a tummy tuck expert, and he taught a course on breast lifting with implants at an American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery national meeting. His practice also participates as a tier 1 specialist in breast reduction, post-mastectomy reconstruction, and implant capsular contracture with Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield. Dr. Spiro serves as an adjunct faculty member of plastic surgery for the Rutgers plastic surgery residency program, where he was named "Faculty Teacher of the Year 2024," as voted unanimously by residents.
